slowly; restrained

Blest is the man whose bow - els move, and melt with pi - ty His heart con - trives for their re - lief More good than his own to — the poor; Whose soul, by sym - pa - thiz - ing love, Feels what his hands — can do; He, in the time of gen - eral grief, Shall find the fel - low saints — en - dure. Feels what his fel - low saints en - dure.

Lord has bow - els, too. Shall find the Lord has bow - els, too.

faster; freely and with great joy

Al - - - le - lu - ia! My God has set — me free! —
